Any major events for this next year or will it be minor events like sealed play/drafts?

We are hopeful of some serious events such a another grand prix qualifier, the dates should also be around the same time as the pre-release for the new set released next October. Everything is still in progress, so watch this space and you will get news as soon as we know, if you can contain the excitement :lol:

Applications for the PTQ's and GrandPrix won't be until early 2008 but we should know around Easter time if Ludi has charmed the guys at Wizards into giving us some big tournaments! ;)

But are there any other major events planned locally in the coming months rather than at Ludicrus itself?:unsure:

The next big tournament is the Morningtide Pre-Release on Sunday 20th Jan 2008. We usually get 40 to 50 players for the PR's!
