
Date formats on Upcoming Events

Posted by Shaun - 2007/11/21 15:50

Just looked at the Upcoming Events and noticed that Gencon & Ludicrus have mm/dd/yy date formats, but Dragonmeet has dd/mm/yy. Please can we have the English version for all?

Cheers,
S.

Re:Date formats on Upcoming Events

Posted by kelvin - 2007/11/21 21:07

:unsure: It all looks like dd/mm/yy here so I can't find anything to fix - anybody else seeing strange date formats?

Re:Date formats on Upcoming Events

Posted by Shaun - 2007/11/23 03:53

Ok just to prove I'm not going mad and seeing things :P

Here's what I see from the home page: <http://www.ludicrus.co.uk/images/fbfiles/images/event1.jpg>

Re:Date formats on Upcoming Events

Posted by Shaun - 2007/11/23 04:01

...and this is what I see if I click on say Gencon UK:
<http://www.ludicrus.co.uk/images/fbfiles/images/event.jpg>

Date format is definitely mm/dd/yy on this screen.

It is like this on IE6 & FF2.

Re:Date formats on Upcoming Events

Posted by kelvin - 2007/11/23 05:16

ah ok - sorry matey I see what you mean now.

This seems to be a bug in the event calendar for multi-day events - it doesn't show on Dragonmeet because that's a single day.

The good news is that it's all open source so I can have a root around in the code and try and fix it.:woohoo:

I'll let you know how I get on!

Re:Date formats on Upcoming Events

Posted by kelvin - 2007/11/26 00:27

OK dates should all show consistently now.

Thanks for that Shaun - I love rooting through other people's code on a Sunday afternoon ;)

