Yeah I'll like actually be able to take the time off before and after so I'll be there for that too. I'm wondering though, what times the venue will be closing, as open gaming on the Saturday night could be rather cool if it ran late, depends on what time the venue has to be closed though.

I doubt it will be anything organized, but most of us down at Woodbridge games club will be down to ludicrous in force, seeing as the club over-laps with ludicrous anyway. But that's just speculation.

I'm looking forward to running the Warmachine tourney...and looking forward to getting bunches of free play games in with Epic Kaya and Epic Severius.
